When the government couldn't kill us all. They took our children away to boarding schools. When that practice declined, they partnered with child welfare agencies and took our kids through foster care. 1/

usa boarding schools and canada residential schools + 60s scoop (which went on until the 90s) never ended, they where rebranded as child welfare, and now in the usa, the laws in place to protect Native children is under threat.

Don't look away, this is genocides in action.

Taking Indigenous kids from their families and communities is a long-standing genocidal tradition.

Being raised by non-Natives doesn't serve the "best interest" of Native kids—these white adults want Native kids anyway, for the adults' own benefit.
