Okay, I give up. How's the NYPD paying $2M to a company registered to some guy's Brooklyn apartment when the guy says he's never heard of the company and is broke

Meanwhile, an apartment in East Flatbush is listed as the headquarters of Eastern Horizon, a camera systems company being paid $2 million as part of a larger NYPD $487 million contract, the details of which are not clear.

“Various Cameras, Recorders, and Accessories” is how the company is described in the contract.

Reached by the Daily News Sunday, Simon Sankar, who lives in that apartment and is listed as the firm’s executive director, said he’s never heard of Eastern Horizon and had no dealings with the NYPD.

“I have no idea what you’re talking about,” he said. “This is very upsetting. I can barely pay my bills and my rent I have nothing to do with any of this.”
