What happens to people impersonating accounts? The whole verification process was to make sure that person you are following is legit. Seems like this is going to be terrible from a safety point of view.

Elon what about fakes and people supplanting identities. How are you supposed to find legitimate accounts. I see a huge problem with this. If people can just buy followers and pay for a checkmark there won't be a way of verifying legitimacy.

Twitter has had a massive drop in revenue, due to activist groups pressuring advertisers, even though nothing has changed with content moderation and we did everything we could to appease the activists.

Extremely messed up! They're trying to destroy free speech in America.

Great question. Twitter will suspend the account attempting impersonation and keep the money!

So if scammers want to do this a million times, that's just a whole bunch of free money.

instead of buying twitter. But people don't understand the importance of having a free & open forum. If somebody dies of starvation in Sudan, it won't affect the world. But being able to say the N-word on twitter is a right we all deserve.

Musk discusses putting all of Twitter behind a paywall

Will he go through with it? PLUS: Botched layoffs, how the new Blue could lose money, and more

Casey Newton ✅

Nov 7

153

Other employees have warned about a secondary feature of the new Blue that Musk added at the last minute: reducing ad load in the Twitter app by half. Estimates showed that Twitter will lose about $6 in ad revenue per user per month in the United States by making that change, sources said. Factoring in Apple and Google's share of the $8 monthly subscription, Twitter would likely lose money on Blue if the ad-light plan is enacted.

"The business fundamentals are just not there," said one former employee who worked on the plans.

Musk has been heavily involved in the chaotic launch of Blue, participating in standup meetings and exchanging regular emails with Esther Crawford, a director of product management at the company. "There is one decision-maker and that is me," Musk told workers, according to meeting notes shared with employees in Slack.

"Any detail of Twitter Blue must be clear w/ him down to the last detail," the message added.
