Lol reminds me of this from Seanbaby. Written at least 20 years ago, written about the 70s, and apparently still relevant

BLACK VULCAN

In the seventies, when you were black, your super hero name needed to remind us. If Captain America was black, he wouldn't have been a captain. They would have called him Blackman America and he would have only fought crime in discos. Black Manta was just "Manta" for a few seasons before the writers found out the guy in the middle of the submarine wreckage was black.

The white Super Friends all had names that described their powers. Aquaman, Batman, Hawkman, Flash... you kind of had an idea what their powers were even before they announced them outloud every time they used them. But anyone ethnic got named after the country they're from or what color they were. If Apache Chief was white, he'd be Grow Man or Large Lad. And Samurai? He wasn't a Samurai. That doesn't mean anything, it's just the only Japanese word they knew. It's like naming Batman "Cowboy" or naming Green Lantern "Baseball Player." They named the Mexican Super Friend "El Dorado." That was a city made out gold. Yeah, it sounds Mexican, but it's nonsense. If the Super Friends hired a Swiss guy, you know they'd name him Hot Chocolate. If a black guy hadn't already taken it, of course.

Of the dozen women taking part, half of them genuinely want to get to know David to see if they click.

However, the other half are in it for the cash, aiming to stay in the game so they can win a jackpot at the end.

Each episode, one woman will be selected as someone suspected of being a 'love trap' and they will be dumped through a trap door. Savage!

Presenter Joel said he was 'super proud' to be a part of the show, saying: 'I love lying, love, and trap doors so it's all I've ever wanted. It's genuinely a huge idea and I'm excited that they have trusted me at the helm.'

What Did Dobbs Actually Accomplish?
mattbruening.com/2022/11/14/wha...

From this, we can see that most abortion-seekers who are affected by bans or restrictions in their own states still get an abortion by traveling to another state.

After accounting for the increase in abortion in non-restrictive states, the total abortion reduction from April to August is only 5,360 per month, which is equal to around 6 percent of pre-Dobbs abortions. And many of those 5,360 missing abortions probably did occur through informal methods, like abortion pills acquired without a prescription, that escape this kind of tracking.

mattbruening.com/2022/11/14/wha...

Change in Abortions Conducted in States with Restrictive and Non-Restrictive Abortion Laws (April to August 2022, Post-Dobbs)

From this, we can see that most abortion-seekers who are affected by bans or restrictions in their own states still get an abortion by traveling to another state.

After accounting for the increase in abortion in non-restrictive states, the total abortion reduction from April to August is only 5,360 per month, which is equal to around 6 percent of pre-Dobbs abortions. And many of those 5,360 missing abortions probably did occur through informal methods, like abortion pills acquired without a prescription, that escape this kind of tracking.

You're the GOP Minority Whip. How do you not know how marginal tax rates work?

Oh that's right, almost forgot: GOP works for the corporate CEOs showering themselves in multi-million 💰 bonuses; not the actual working people whose wages + healthcare they're ripping off for profit.

Dropped a girl home after arguing and when she got out I was patiently waiting for the car door to SLAM.
 The slam never came, she just left the door wide open, I had to get out and close it myself like a taxi man

Umm so leaving the door open is my signature move.
 It also works well if you feel unsafe & ur escaping a nasty Uber driver. He is forced to pause to close the car door before he can chase you. Thus giving you a chance to flee
